

Dedication: This is a poem that Basil writes when she is older. Things kept getting worse after that first job and this is not long before she meets the rangers for the first time.

The Day is Darker

*What wonder it is I still yet live
So long has it been since I saw sun light
Back as a kitten I went to the dark
And forgot everything I heard in the park*

*My boss will not yet end this frightful plea
I keep being pulled back, will I ever be free?
I know that it started back that day in the dark
The day I didn't listen to the squirrel at the park*

~Basil Carver aka LWKat~