

Judging

*Through the windows of those eyes
Down the nerves eclectic with life
Past the organs, the bone and flesh
Beats a heart like mine inside your chest.*

*Within that heart a spirit now dwells
Sleeping and dreaming of lithy swells
Now and then it awakes with a start
And shows the world just what's in your heart.*

*Judge me not by the looks
Of my eyes or my face
For they can go blind
And my skin can be scarred*

*I know there is something
Specially in you
If you will just give me the time
I can show you it's true*
