

Our Time

To have us close together, this I have to say
The times we seize between us is often so much play
We hold each other closely, to share our hearts so dear
To place our souls within each grasp, to shed a gentle tear
Yet, as we find our time within, our love can show no wrong
Our wants and pleasure moments past, we hope will last so long
You've brought a light unto the path, so darkness will not hold
That simple word of kindness, so strong and ever bold
I place myself beside you, no weakness as you grasp
To hold me to your skin so soft, reacting to my gasp
Your tender touch along my neck, relaxes every nerve
I tense with chills of wonderment, you reach each wanting curve.
My eyes close slowly with your touch; sleep calls me in your lap.
Your hand upon my cheek so soft, I drift to slumbers trap
