

The Meeting

When first we met, our souls far apart
On a hillside we talked, you first took my heart
Gazed into your eyes, wolfen soul I did see
You asked, "don't look deep", I could not agree
The Sapphire blue of your eyes so did shine
I could not believe, how they matched mine
We were lost for a time, our steps went their way
I did find you again, a most wonderful day
Again, we did talk, of that time long ago
Of a hillside, a tree and of feelings that grow
We talked of our present and futures might be
The wonders and problems, for us to see
To look into my eyes is to see in my soul
My love this you've done, at a fabulous toll
To look back into yours, brings love to my heart
I hope at this time, we shall never part